Many Improvements Needed.

Among the requests for appropriation this year will be a big one for the in-crease of barrack room in the United States. While in the city, General Bell informed and the city of the city of the city. states. While in the city, General Beli informed an army officer that the result of his trip through the country has disclosed to him a number of posts besides Fort Douglas in which the buildings were not of a modern standard and that the request made to congress this year would provide for a more general overhauling than has taken place for some time.

The present available money for the kind of work which General Bell will recommend to be done at Douglas is running very low, and it is doubtful if any of it can be made immediately available except perhaps the $50,000 for the hospital, which is contained in a specific clause in the 1967-8 bill for the posts of the army. He held out hopes, however, to the officers at Douglas that the quartermaster general's department could spare enough money to erect at least two of the new sets of officers' quarters this fall.

The Fifteenth infantry, which is due to arrive here within two months to take the place of the Twenty-ninth, is a very large regiment, and all of it probably will have to be squeezed into Douglas, at least for a short time. This, as well as the other erasons advanced by the committee of boosters convinced General Bell that it would be well if some of the current appropriation could be made early available for improvements at the post.
